Mysuru, May 11 (RK&NNN)- "A fruitful all-round development of the country is not possible unless there is focus on basic research and it is institutes like CFTRI which are in the forefront that have to take steps and concentrateonsuchresearch,"saidNIE University Chancellor D.A. Prasanna.

He was delivering the 'National Technology Day Lecture' organised as part of National Technology Day celebration by CSIR - CFTRI (Central Food Technological Research Institute) at the IFTTC auditorium in CFTRI premises here this morning. Conservation conversation

Tracing the origins of the multitude of life forms on planet earth and their arrival on its surface, including the different water bodies in the range of oceans-rivers-lakes-streams-ponds-wells-and-what-have-you, followed by their departure, read disappearance for good, popularly described as extinction, over the time span of the planet's existence, estimated chemically at 4.5 billion years, has fascinated anthropologists, biologists, keen followers of changes occurring both openly and incognito as it were and others. The knowledge that they have separately and collectively generated and the related information in mountainous proportions that has accumulated so far and expanding, now assessable on the internet instantly, may not amaze lay people, lost in the humdrum of struggle to survive. The speechless species, on the other hand, totally at the mercy of human populations in all regions of the planet, vandals of a despicable kind, have earned space both in museums and pages of colourfully produced coffee table books lying in drawing rooms of the elite. The living spaces of the various species, particularly air for the birds, water for the aquatic fauna and forest for the terrestrial animals, have all been encroached upon mercilessly by the human species to the point of risking extinction of all but the humans, as cautioned by many in informed circles.

Talking of extinction in various forums, hinted by a rising rate of attrition in the population of beautiful creatures, some calling them animals, doesn't seem to have moved beyond talking. Urbanites are currently talking of disappearance of sparrows in cities more with a sense of amusement than dismay, even as Mysureans have joined their bandwagon. The initiative taken early this week by a city-based voluntary organisation to distribute toy-like contraption to attract sparrows, aimed at recreating their presence like in the past is to be lauded, however belated. A landmark report endorsed by study groups in 130 countries and published this week has put an unprecedented one million species at risk of extinction, even as human species is proliferating.

The onus of conserving whatever is left of the environment and its components, particularly green cover and the denizens in that space is currently left on the lap of administrations while communities seem to be in frame of mind to lend their hands in fruitful conservation conversation.

Tall doughnut tower breaks Guinness record

Johannesburg: Guinness World Records has announced that a Jewish group in South Africa has broken the record for the world's tallest stack of doughnuts which is 59.84-inches in height. The record-keeping organization announced it has reviewed the evidence submitted by the Jewish Life Centre in Johannesburg and verified the 59.84-inch stack, included a total 3,1000 doughnuts, was a new world record.

The pyramid-shaped doughnut tower was disassembled and the baked goods were distributed to attendees of the center's Hanukkah event, with leftovers being donated to charities The Jewish Helping Hand and Yad Aharon.

Girl's message in bottle travels 300 miles to Norway

Scotland: An 8-year-old Scottish girl's message in a bottle, which she launched from Aberdeen Beach in Scotland in November 2017, has been found one and a half years later by a fisherman who found it more than 300 miles away. Vicky Gibbons said her then-8-year-old daughter, Eve Punter, chose Aberdeen Beach as the location to launch her message in a bottle in November 2017.

Gibbons said she received an email last week from a fisherman named Sven who said he found the bottle in the sand on a beach in Feoy, a small Norwegian island 300 miles across the North Sea. She said her daughter was overjoyed. "She even printed it off and took it to school where they looked up information about the island. She was so happy with it," she said.

Tranquillised leopardess dies en-route to Mysuru Zoo

Mysuru, May 11 (MTY&BCT)- The leopardess that was tranquillised by the Forest Department at Kyathanahalli village near Gaddige in H.D. Kote Taluk died last evening while it was being shifted to Mysuru Zoo for treatment.

The two-and-a-half-year-old feline was in a weak condition and it had sustained serious injuries as it was caught in a wire snare placed to trap wild boars. The injured animal had entered Kyathanahalli village yesterday morning and had bitten one person and injured another villager.

It had entered the house of a villager and the Department sharp-shooter had tranquillised it in a four-hour operation. Soon after the animal was trapped and shifted to a cage, Department veterinarian Dr. D.N. Nagaraj began treating it but the feline died after sometime.

The leopard was suffering from severe infection in the neck as it was caught in the snare. The animal was very weak due to starvation. The snare was removed and the leopardess was being shifted to Mysuru Zoo. However, it succumbed to the injuries on the way.

The feline had injuries and there was pus formation and had maggots on the neck and the left hind limb that was bleeding probably after trying to free itself from the wire snare. The post-mortem indicated that the leopardess had not consumed food for nearly three weeks and it might have entered the village looking for an easy prey as it was not in a position to hunt.

"We were not aware of the injuries and we had made an elaborate plan to capture the animal by placing nets around the house so that it could not sneak out. Finally it was captured after the tranquilliser dart was fired after opening the tiles of the house. We were shocked to see the plight of the animal. It was in a desperate situation and it gave up its fight for survival," said Dr. Nagaraj.

Department officials said that a two-and-a-half-year-old leopardess typically weighs 60 to 65 kgs but this feline just weighed 18 kgs indicating that it was starving and weak. Seeing the injured leopardess after it was caught, villagers expressed sympathy over the feline as it was starving.

City Police takes over gang-rape probe

'Operation Ring Road' launched to clamp down on those drinking in public

Mysuru, May 11 (RK&BCT)- Two days after the gang-rape of a woman at Lingambudhipalya, the Kuvempunagar Police have taken over the probe from the District Police. The crime was reported on May 9 where the woman was allegedly gang-raped by four men in a drunken stupor on the night of May 8.

Police examine the scene of the crime.

Though there was a doubt about the Police jurisdiction during initial investigation, in the interest of investigation, the Jayapura Police had registered a gang-rape case and had formed eight teams to hunt for the perpetrators. Before committing the crime, the gang brutally assaulted the woman's friend Shivasiddappa and broke one of his legs. They assaulted him with lethal weapons and the victim is recuperating at K.R. Hospital.

City Police Commissioner K.T. Balakrishna told Star of Mysore that the Kuvempunagar Police will investigate the case as the Jayapura Police, coming under Mysuru Rural subdivision, has transferred the case to the City Commissionerate yesterday.

Jayapura Police had filed an application in the District and Sessions Court, where heinous crimes (where the period of sentence in the case of conviction will be seven years and above) are heard. The District Police had contended that the scene of crime at Lingambudhi Palya near Lingambudhi Lake comes under the jurisdiction of Kuvempunagar Police limits.

Hearing the application, the Court passed the order directing the city Police to take up the investigation. An order to this effect has been received at the Commissioner's Office and they have taken up the case, Balakrishna said.

Police said that the Kuvempunagar Police have already swung into action and have formed teams to nab the rapists. Some persons are being questioned and reliable sources said that there will be a breakthrough soon. Police have intensified the investigation and are tracing the Call Details Records (CDR) of the victims and are tracing phone numbers based on cell phone tower location at the time of the incident.

Meanwhile, Shivasiddappa, who was attacked with a boulder, sustained a fracture in his leg. He underwent a surgery yesterday and apart from the fracture, he has sustained lacerations on some parts of the body but his condition is stable said K.R. Hospital doctors.

Operation Ring Road

Following the incident, the city Police have launched 'Operation Ring Road' to clamp down on those drinking in public. Police sources said that teams have stepped up patrolling along the peripheral areas to put brakes on illegal activities including drinking in open spaces.

Areas along the Outer Ring Road and open spaces such as parks and deserted roads in these localities have become a haven for people to consume alcohol. Police said that many youngsters are often spotted drinking in such spaces after dark.

Police said that people choose such places to avoid paying extra money for liquor in bars and restaurants. Apart from creating a public nuisance, these people trouble pedestrians. After drinking, they discard bottles at those places and some even break them on the roads in a drunken state. "We will put an end to all such activities," Police said.

He stated that he had texted his wife on Apr. 28 seeking her early return when she had replied that she was on a tour. He further stated that his wife's mobile phone was switched off later. Digitalise house tax payment

Sir,

I have been paying my house tax every year since last 10 years. Paying house tax is a highly cumbersome and tiresome process in Mysuru. Two pages of Form, a FOUR part challan, waiting in the queue for hours at the mercy of the "writer/RI" of the MCC, paying him/her Rs.50 for filling in the Form etc. (The fee varies according to locality. People from posh localities have to shell out more. Even door service is available for higher payment).

For a job that can be completed within a minute or half, citizens of Mysuru have to wait in long queues for being honest and doing their duty promptly. Unfortunately they are doing this with no grumbling or complaining since decades.

Mysureans, either being extremely rich or illiterate entirely depend on the writers/bill collectors for this petty job. Added to all these, if the RI of a particular ward goes on leave, MCC never bothers to entrust the job to another person in order to avoid trouble and inconvenience to the tax payer. Coming to Corporators, they are least bothered about this.

The irony is that MCC and MUDA promptly replaces footpath slabs at least every 2 years. Perhaps because there is so much scope for so many things. But the footpath is never used by pedestrians because it is totally encroached by the shop-owners, street-side vendors and others.

Whatever it may be, I urge upon the authorities concerned to digitalise the process of property tax payment at least by next year, that is, 2020-2021. Have mercy on seniors, disabled people and other common citizens and make the payment process super-fast so that they can do it at their leisure from the computer keyboard on their table or Mobile in their hands. BBMP has done it, CHESCom, BSNL have done it. Why can't MCC and MUDA?

Cracks in Clock Tower: Heritage Committee to submit report

Mysuru, May 11 (MTY&BCT)- Following reports of cracks in the historical Silver Jubilee Clock Tower or Dodda Gadiyara at Gandhi Square in city, the Heritage Committee will submit a report to the District Administration on the measures to be taken to restore the iconic structure. The Committee will prepare a Detailed Project Report on the restoration.

Though the 75-foot tall structure is safe, cracks have developed in the area where the bell is situated at the top portion. There is a 5.5 feet bell on top of the tower and it has stopped ringing since the last 30 years. The weight of the French-made bell is around 920 kg. The arch of the structure has cracks owing to rusting of the iron used in the construction process, said officials.

The cracks were discovered by the Heritage Committee when the members inspected the structure recently. Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar said that the MCC Commissioner had proposed to him that the hourly chiming of the clock must be restored to its past glory.

"Following this, a team of engineers and Heritage Committee members inspected the structure when the cracks were discovered. We do not know the reason for this and we will have a discussion with the Heritage Committee that has now been asked to submit a report," he said.

The DC added that Prof. N.S. Rangaraju of the Heritage Committee will suggest the technologies to be used to restore the cracks and accordingly, the Mysuru City Corporation and the Department of Archaeology and Museums will take up the works.

The beautiful heritage clock tower was installed by Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar in 1927 after completing 25 years of his rule and hence in its memory the structure was named Silver Jubilee Clock Tower. It is 75 ft. in height. But the boards installed providing detailed information has faded and rusted and needs restoration.

The tower was installed on August 8, 1927 and the construction expense of this historical clock tower was Rs. 7,500, which was built in just six months. On four sides at the tower, the clock establishment, date, month, year and other details were engraved in Sanskrit, Kannada, English and Persian languages in marble stone in golden letters. The sign boards or plaques are now in a pathetic condition with fading letters.

When the clock was striking, the sound could be heard from a distance of nearly two kms. However, the chiming of the clock has stopped from over 30 years.

Two MLCs engage in verbal duel over land issue at MUDA meeting

Mysuru, May 11 (RK&DM)- Two MLCs — Marithibbegowda and Sandesh Nagaraj — entered into a prolonged heated argument over de-notification of land at the General meeting of members of Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) held at the MUDA office on JLB Road here yesterday.

When the situation was about to take a turn for the worse, other members intervened and succeeded in pacifying them.

MUDA Chairman H.N. Vijay deferred the meeting to May 20 and said the issue would be taken up for discussion then.

The meeting which had set an agenda of discussing 116 subjects, had finished discussing 52 of them and trouble began when land de-notification issue came up for discussion at the meeting.

MLC Marithibbegowda sought issuance of NoC for forming of Private Layout in 140 acres of land primarily de-notified by the Government, coming under Kasaba hobli, Halalu, Yadahalli, Kergalli, Chikkalli and Yandalli villages of the taluk, when fellow MLC Sandesh Nagaraj raised objection saying that the matter can be discussed at length at MUDA's next meeting.

Marithibbegowda, opposing Sandesh Nagaraj's stand, said that the matter be decided at this meeting itself as the Government had de-notified the land for formation of layouts, besides ordering issuance of NoCs to several Housing Co-operative Societies, that have sought NoC.

Irked by Marithibbegowda's demand, Sandesh Nagaraj said that issuance of NoCs to private Housing Societies would mean that there would be no land left for the Government to acquire lands in the future for formation of layouts and the MUDA will become redundant.

This triggered a war of words between the two MLCs, when other members intervened and pacified them, it is learnt.

Sources said that when the de-notification issue came up for discussion, some members objected to it citing lack of clarity. A Legislator member also questioned the selection of a few Societies which stood to benefit by the de-notification.

MUDA Chairman H.N. Vijay, who chaired his first meeting after taking over office just a couple of days before the model code of conduct for the Lok Sabha polls came into effect on Mar 10, ruled that the issue will be taken up at the next meeting and deferred the meeting to May 20.

MUDA Commissioner P.S. Kantharaju and other officials attended the meeting.

Stop Officers from Politics?

Shankar Bidari

Chandrashekaraiah

Ratna Prabha

H.T. Sangliana

Revannasiddaiah

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Wednesday, 8th May, claimed that former Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi used aircraft carrier INS Viraat like it was his personal taxi to go on a holiday to Lakshadweep.

That there was a holiday is a fact. But the question is about logistics. While former Navy Chief Admiral Laxminarayan Ramdas weighed in saying PM Modi was lying, former Navy Commander V.K. Jaitly claimed otherwise ! Who do we believe?

Now, we know for a fact that Admiral Laxminarayan Ramdas does not like PM Modi or the BJP. Because in 2002 he wrote an open letter to the PM about the happenings in Gujarat saying, "Dismiss Shri Mody as Chief Minister of Gujarat for his hand in the ethnic cleansing."

Interestingly in the same letter Admiral Ramdas wrote, "Growing up in Delhi as a young boy, the senseless slaughter of innocent human beings in 1947 are still vivid in my mind. To see the same happen in 2002 has been shattering." We wonder why Admiral Ramdas didn't feel shattered and write a letter when Rajiv Gandhi said, "When a big tree falls, the earth shakes" replying to a question about the 1984 genocide of Sikhs after his mother's assassination.

Now, we wonder how the Admiral feels about Sam Pitroda brushing off the slaughter of Sikhs as hua-toh-hua. Imagine if Amit Shah when asked about Godhra riots brushed it off saying "hua-toh-hua"? There would have been chaos among "pseudo-liberals" who are now sitting tight-lipped about Pitroda. This lack of fair criticism of both Left and Right by liberals is what makes them pseudo.

Recently, the Admiral wrote to the Election Commission asking it to "Ensure that armed forces are not used for political gains." He is right in his request. But, may be if the armed forces are not to be politicised then Army men should stay away from politics.

That said, where was the need for the Admiral to join Aam Admi Party (AAP), only to be later unceremoniously discharged from his duty as its Internal Lokpal for causing internal strife?

The fact is, may be it's time to bring in a law about Government Servants entering politics because politics in India has become their final refuge. That is why everyone from a Jawan (Tej Bahadur Yadav, the BSF Constable of 'Bad Army Food' video fame was given SP ticket for Varanasi) to a General (General V.K. Singh); From an Olympian (Discus thrower Krishna Poonia) to Cricketer (Gautam Gambhir); from Actor (Sunny Deol) to Journalist (Supriya Shrinate); all of them are finding second wind in politics as a career.

But what is worrisome is that in recent times there has been a spike in Civil Servants, Military Personnel and Police Officers entering politics.

Over the years the list of bureaucrats turning politicians has been growing, starting with BJP leader Yashwant Sinha, Natwar Singh, Mani Shankar Aiyar, former LS Speaker Meira Kumar (she was an IFS Officer), Arvind Kejriwal (former IRS Officer), etc. But, of course, what was shocking was when former RAW Chief Sanjeev Tripathi joined BJP ! This is happening even at the State-level.

In Karnataka, Officers who entered politics include former DGP Shankar Bidari, former Bangalore Police Commissioner H.T. Sangliana, late Minister D.T. Jayakumar (he was Sub-Inspector in Nanjangud), former Inspector B.C. Patil (now sitting MLA), former DGP L. Revannasiddaiah, former DGP K.C. Ramamurthy, former ACP Abdul Azeem… the list goes on.

Even among Officers there are quite a few, there was former Chief Secretary B.S. Patil who stood for elections and more recently former Chief Secretary Ratna Prabha joined the BJP. In 2014, former Justice C. Chandrashekaraiah stood for MP elections from Mysuru-Kodagu seat.

But why do these people want to enter politics? Is it to serve or fill a void? For most of their career these Officers live a royal life — power, bungalows, servants and cars. But once they retire no one cares for them. And they feel the void of that power, relevance, bungalow, servants and cars. How to fix this void? Simple. Enter Politics.

The danger in this is that when they know they will join politics instead of being in the "service" of the people they will be in the service of political parties.

When Actors and Athletes join politics it is not significant but when Military Personnel, Judges, Bureaucrats and Police Officers plan to enter politics, it can be unhealthy for Democracy.

Just imagine, by giving ticket to a Jawan, who was sacked for insubordination, what message is one sending? Soon ambitious Jawans will start making derogatory videos of the military or their Senior Officers to seek attention and hope to convert that into a political gateway. How can it be healthy for the armed forces? Imagine if Generals started giving information of covert strikes to gain political mileage? What if Judges give unfair verdicts for post-retirement benefits? What if Police Officers turn a blind eye to over-zealous political activists of the party they plan to join? What if bureaucrats go easy on implementation of land reforms to allow land-grabbing by their future political lords? Even worse. What if they indulge in severe bribery in order to build an election-kitty?

The truth is all the above are not "what if" scenarios, all the above has happened, is happening and will continue to happen and, if ignored, will only increase. So may be it's time to stop it.

We may not be able to ban these Government Officers from entering politics but at least we can have a "cooling off period." Like how there is a cooling off period for a retired bureaucrat before taking up a corporate job. Why can't we have a cooling off period for those who are retired or are still in Government service to enter politics?

In fact, the EC in 2012 recommended to the then UPA Government that recently retired or resigned IAS, IPS and all-India services Officers be kept away from electoral politics for two years. Logic being that the unpredictability of a political future will keep them impartial to a certain extent while in service. The Government rejected the proposal. Why?

The Government argued that disallowing former bureaucrats to immediately join politics could violate their right to equality enshrined in the Constitution. Guess, the Government had forgotten the Oath these Officers took which states "…I will carry out the duties of my office loyally, honestly and with impartiality"? So, how can an Officer serve this nation and its people "Loyally, honestly and with impartiality" when his decision-making is guided by his political ambitions?

Mango Mania

Summer is soaring and the 'King of Fruits' has occupied its throne in Mysuru. Luscious mangoes have piled up in make-shift shops, carts, street corners and stalls at various junctions and prominent places. It is that time of the year when other fruits are sidelined and mango is placed on top of the fruit ladder. This Weekend Star Supplement profiles mango mania that has gripped the city and how sellers and buyers are making the most of the Golden Fruit.

Mysureans go gaga over Mangoes

By V. Shourabh

Mango is also apparently called the 'Food of Gods' in Vedas and is also a favourite among Mysureans. There is nothing in the world that can give you that immense pleasure of relishing mango in summer.

Though there have been chemical ways of ripening the fruit, Mysuru has gone the green and natural way. Several fruit sellers and farmers are using natural ways to ripen the luscious fruit.

Summer is incomplete without mangoes. With just the mention of the word 'summer', the first thing that comes to our mind is the availability of varieties of mangoes. Mango markets and Mango Mandis are flooded with varieties of mangoes of various colours and taste. While some use raw mangoes to make pickles, others love the pulpy ripened ones and they are in for a treat this season. This soul soothing fruit is an all-time favourite.

Madhu seen waving at motorists and trying to attract customers on the Mysuru-Hunsur Highway.

Highway Mango Mandi on Hunsur Road

Speeding cars and bikes slow down and buyers go for varieties of mangoes especially on the every-busy highway between Yelwal and Ankanahalli on the Mysuru-Hunsur Highway. This Highway Mango Mandi in that two-kilometre stretch starts from February every year and runs up to August. These mango sellers arrange varieties of mangoes in pyramid shapes and greet commuters, especially those going towards Madikeri. Obliging, people stop their vehicles and buy in bulk.

Akash, Kishore, Deepu, Preethu and Shivu have setup their own make-shift carts on that busy highway. Speaking to Star of Mysore, Kishore said, "In this two kilometre stretch, commuters stop by at one of the carts and buy fruit. They get tempted seeing so many mangoes and they buy for their family and friends and also stop by to have a bite or two."

"I and my friends sell mangoes from February to July and we have varieties like Malagova, Badami, Apoos, Mundappa, Baganapalli, Kesari, Himapasha, Sakregulla, Kesari, Thotapuri, etc. All the mangoes sold here are natural which is grown nearby at Nagavala village," he said.

Darshan, a 9th standard student, was enthusiastically selling mangoes by attracting customers by saluting and waving at vehicles. He said, "Being vacation time, I have shouldered the responsibility of selling mangoes here and support my family. This season gets us the most of the business. In other seasons our family sells other fruits but when we sell mangoes a lot of customers come in to buy it. All mangoes are procured from nearby villages -- Nagavala, Bommanahalli, Seigalli, Vasaramanahalli, Kumarahalli, Ratnahalli, Benkipura, etc. I want to study and want to make the society more educated. That is why I intend to become a teacher."

Another seller Lakshmanna was of the opinion that earlier only people passing through the highway used to buy mangoes but now people from Mysuru come all the way here to buy mangoes. He adds, "Since 10 years, I have been selling mangoes here and now the business has picked up. Apoos is the sweetest mango and that is all-time favourite."

Madhu, a 10th Standard student sells mangoes with his grandfather Swaminayaka in a cart on the Hunsur Highway. He is inspired by his grandfather who has been selling mangoes since the last 60 years. Madhu said, "I intend to be as dedicated as my grandfather. Seeing him work hard makes me work harder. I want to join the Indian Army in the future."

Darshan with his pile of mangoes on Hunsur Highway. He too waves at passing motorists so that they will be tempted to buy from his outlet.

Mandis are the nerve centres for mangoes

Sellers buying mangoes from distributors at mango market. The highest bidder gets the booty depending on the fruit quality.

The RMC Market near Bamboo Bazaar and APMC Market (mandis) are the central hub for fruits and being summer season, mangoes have been the central attraction. Here, mango merchants and dealers auction mangoes for commission. They buy mangoes from farmers, conduct auctions and the highest bidder gets the booty.

Mehboob Shariff, President, APMC Association, who is popularly known as Patthar Babu, opined that this year, lack of rains have hurt the mango yield in a major scale. In his shop M-Roshan Zameer RMS Fruits and Co. he auctions mangoes.

He said, "The crop yield is only 20% this year and it's a 60% slump compared to the previous year. This has been a major concern. We conduct auctions daily and generally it happens in the early hours of the day. A lot of sellers swell in the morning and take part in the auctions."

Mohiyuddhen, Proprietor, HMI Fruits and Co, said, "We get mangoes in crates and the auction is a systematic process. The highest bidder gets the fruit and for every variety of mangoes there is a base auction price and a maximum auction price. Alphonso has a range of Rs.30-70/kg, Rasapuri Rs.20-60/Kg, Malagova Rs.20-60, Mallika Rs.25-60 etc. We get mangoes from K.R. Pet, Mandya and nearby villages. We also send crates of mangoes to other companies who make pulp and juice," he said.

"We sell fruits to companies like Jain Irrigation, Mother Dairy Ice Cream factory in Bengaluru, pulp factories in Chittoor, Ahmedabad, and Krishnagiri etc. They use it for making juice pulps and syrups. We also send it to the Coco-Cola factory. Daily we auction about 400-500 crates to local fruit sellers and later during the day we also sell about 50-100 tonnes of mango pulp to factories," he added.

Akbar Road Mango Bazaar

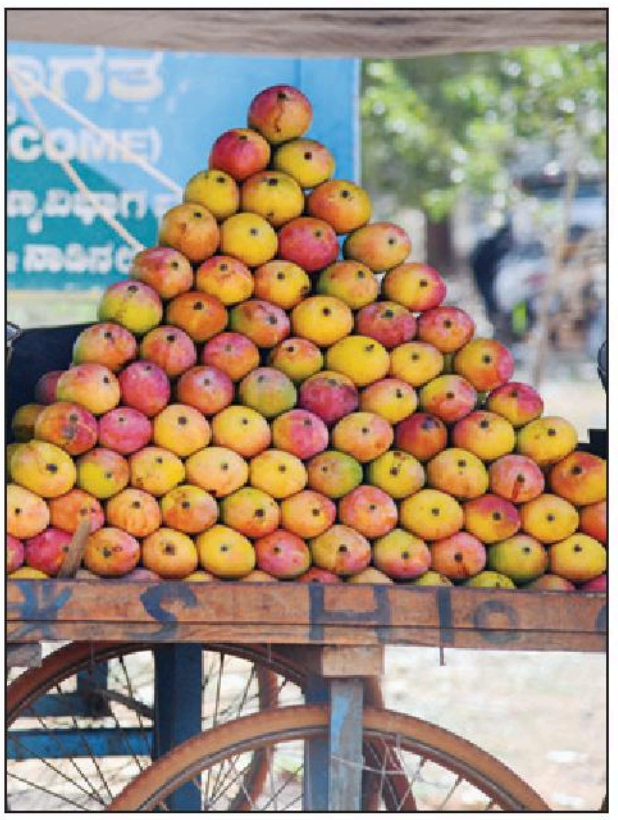
Akbar Road is also called the Mango Bazaar/ Mandi of Mysuru. There are about 30 to 50 shops selling mangoes on this road. Sohail, who has his mango shop here said, "We bring fruits from RMC fruit market and we bid in auctions. This road has been prominent for selling mangoes for over 100 years. We sell around 10-12 different varieties and the bazaar mainly attracts local population."

Natural Mango Ripening Centre at Hebbal



Mango carts on DC Office road

C.M. Subramanian runs Goldline Industries and supplies fruits and vegetables to major hotels like Radisson Blu Plaza, Metropole and Southern Star. He has come out with an innovative ripening method and setup the facility at Hebbal for ripening fruits in a natural and a healthy way. Most of the fruits are ripened using chemicals like carbide powder. He says, "Customers get fooled by seeing the colour of the fruit. Carbide powder ripens the fruit overnight and is very harmful as it is a cancer-causing chemical."

He has setup a chamber where the fruits are placed in crates. Ethylene gas is released in the closed cold chamber. This gas is naturally available in the atmosphere and it helps ripen the fruit. The temperature inside the cold chamber is maintained between 20 to 22 degree Celsius and a low dosage of ethylene gas is sprayed.

After the first 24 hours, the ripening process begins. This process is just like respiration. Mangoes are exposed to Ethylene gas and it releases carbon dioxide, which comes out of the chamber through an exhaust pipe. Once in every 12 hours carbon dioxide is let out. On the fourth day, mangoes are fully ripe. Along with temperature, the setup has a humidity control mechanism. It is essential that the fruit remains moist and thus a humidity control meter is placed to monitor it, he says.

Subramanian adds, "I also keep updating myself to the latest technology and methods. This setup will cost around 10 lakh for a chamber that can hold 4 tonnes of fruits. This process of ripening is safe and naturally induced."

City Top Cop issues safety guidelines to all schools

Mysuru, May 11 (SPN&BCT)- Children spend a large part of their day in schools and while travelling to and from their schools. Their safety during this time is exceedingly important.

K.T. Balakrishna

Cases come up from time to time of abuse of children at the school premises, or even accidents that could have been easily prevented with just a simple system in place and a little extra care. For every case reported, there are many others that go unreported.

In view of the above, City Police Commissioner K.T. Balakrishna has issued a set of guidelines to be followed strictly by school and high school managements and the authorities who run the day-to-day administration of the schools.

There is a clear and significant role each school has to play in the prevention, reporting and handling of child abuse, and other safety-related accidents during the time children are entrusted to the care of the school. The board of directors, principals and senior management teams have primary responsibility for the care and welfare of their students.

These guidelines must be strictly followed at all schools coming under the Mysuru Police Commissionerate and must be implemented before June 1, the beginning of the academic year.

- A school bus is considered to be the safest commute option for children. Buses should follow clear mandates including the seat to student ratio, display of emergency numbers and tracking system, etc.
- While picking up and dropping children, one male staffer and a female staffer must mandatorily accompany the children in the bus.
- Seats in the bus must be occupied by children in accordance to the guidelines issued by the Transport Department. Extra students must not be made to squeeze in.
- All school vehicles, be it small or big, must have Global Positioning System (GPS) and must be in working condition for authorities to track movements.
- All school vehicle drivers must have Driving Licence and before hiring a driver, the school must check their background and must get a Police verification done on the drivers.
- If the school has no own vehicles, it must enter into a formal agreement with third parties to supply vehicles. In such a case, the owners of the vehicles are responsible for the conduct of the drivers.
- Keeping in view the safety of the school students throughout the journey, no outsider except the bus staff or the said authorised teacher or one person authorised by parents shall be allowed to board the school bus.
- While hiring such vehicles, the school managements must ensure that vehicle documents are up-to-date including Fitness Certificate and Vehicle Insurance.
- During school hours, the drivers and other vehicle staff must remain in buses instead of loitering inside the school compound. They should not unnecessarily interact with children or indulge in any other activity with them. Specific instructions must be given to drivers on which areas are out of bounds for them.
- Access to areas like bus area, gym, swimming pools, sports rooms/fields, canteen and toilets should be confined to persons whose presence in the area is required, and are therefore specifically authorised access to these areas. Loitering in such specific areas by unauthorised personnel should be prevented.
- Parents or other visitors must not have free access across premises during school hours and if their entry is necessitated, they must be accompanied so that their access is limited and monitored.
- If there is more than one floor to the school building, each floor must have a floor supervisor who has to have a dedicated place on the floor to watch the surroundings.
- A record of all staff reporting for duty must be maintained, be it electronic swiping or by signing a register, recording both in and out times. All contract staff must sign their in and out times as well.
- Schools must have adequate CCTV coverage. Cameras must cover all critical areas of the premises. Entry and exit points of the school (in case there is a side entrance, this too must have a CCTV camera).
- Any point on the outer perimeter/ wall which is vulnerable must have cameras, and which could show footage of persons attempting to gain entry to the premises, especially covering persons outside the main entrance.
- CCTV equipment must be maintained regularly and it must be ensured that once installed, the footage is viewed and the equipment used to bring in a strong control.
- Apart from providing identity cards to all the school employees including support staff, all parents/ guardians of children must be given identity cards and the ID cards must display the photos of their children.
- Mobile numbers of parents/ guardians must be mandatorily taken and parents must be informed from time to time about the school activities. Parents and guardians must be immediately alerted in case of emergencies.

Plastic use is problematic not plastic per se

Open House at CIPET throws light on plastic engineering, technology

Mysuru, May 11 (VS)- A two-day Open House organised by Central Institute of Plastics Engineering and Technology -Centre for Skilling Technical Support (CIPET-CSTS), Mysuru in association with Ministry of Chemicals and Fertilizers, began in city yesterday. The event was open for public to showcase how plastic is used in various walks of our lives at every single stage.

The Open House had displays of several plastic moulds, plastic products, and mould manufacturing techniques and provided an insight into the courses offered at the Institute in various disciplines of Plastic Engineering and Technology.

Many uses of plastic

The products manufactured were designed for electrical, satellite, aeronautical, medical, agricultural and missile purposes and were made up of plastic, aluminium, titanium and steel. They ranged from hinge pins to gear forks and levers. They had also displayed plastic peddles, assembling components, Teflon sheets, water sprinklers, road reflectors, trophy bases, etc.

The visitors were taken on a walk around the campus and were also taken to the major departments like CAD-CAM (Computer Aided Design-Computer Aided Manufacturing), Processing, Tool Room and Testing that function under a single Umbrella of CIPET Mysore. The students use CAD-CAM lab uses various software to design the mould and analyse it.

The processing department has various moulding machinery like injection moulding, blow moulding etc. Here pipes, wires, cables and films are manufactured with guidance from the faculty. The tool room focused on precision component manufacturing, mould manufacturing using Computer Numerical Control (CNC) milling, CNC electrical lathe discharge machining and CNC lathe. In the testing room, the quality check of the products is ensured. They check the load and the temperature conditions that the finished product can withstand.

From plastic to fuel

There was a display of a lab project of how plastic waste can be converted to fuel. This lab project had a flask where in the plastic waste material was heated to 300 to 400 degree Celsius under some optimal requirements. It was then condensed and it used to become oil. The behaviour of the oil was similar to the properties of petrol.

Speaking to Star of Mysore L. Sivasubramanian, Senior Technical Officer, CIPET said, "This converted oil acted as fuel and it had an efficiency of almost 90%. This was a lab test and we will be making further strides in the coming future."

Diploma in plastic technology

Sivasubramanian added, "Here in the institute, we offer a one-and-a-half year Post Graduate Diploma in Plastics Processing and Testing (PGD-PPT) course for those who have completed their graduation in B.Sc. with chemistry as their majors and two more three-year duration courses for those who have passed X std. with Science, English and Mathematics as their subjects- Diploma in Plastics Mould Technology (DPMT) and Diploma in Plastics Technology (DPT)."

"We also offer campus placements and we aim to provide the right support and education to budding youngsters to pursue their career in this field. Public needs to get awareness about what we do here in the institute and hope their careers can be shaped. The course focuses on skilled based learning and we focus on practical approach that makes our students ready to join the industry," he said.

Waste recycling

The expo also displayed how plastic waste was recycled and used to make bars, square road or footpath blocks etc. They get waste plastic from the Mysore Municipal Corporation. This is then recycled and is made into bars and rods with a slight mixing of sand along with it. They had displayed benches and chairs that can be made out of those bars which can be used in public places and parks. The footpath blocks and road blocks were made by mixing cement and sand along with recycled plastic. This is cost-effective and also the weight of the block is comparatively less to the original cement block.

R.T. Nagaralli, Director and Head, CIPET Mysore brought light on how the focus of the problem was plastic management and not the plastic itself and said, "There is a huge misconception in the minds of people about plastic. They have the concept that plastic should be banned. But it is because of the littering culture of people. The ultimate blame is put on plastic. In India only 10 kg per capita plastic is consumed but in USA 50 kg per capita of plastic is consumed."

Plastic a key element

"Plastic is a key element of day to day life right from the morning brush to the door knobs, electrical switches etc. Every single car has about 150 Kg of plastic components. Plastic is a useful component but the people due to their littering habits, have forced plastic to sound negative. It is expected that by 2030, 20 kg/capita of plastic will be consumed in India. If the demand for plastic increases, then there will be more technology, more employment opportunities and eventually growth of the society," he added.

"Along with the regular course, we also offer short-term skill-oriented courses for 10th standard dropouts or failed students. Our focus is giving them the right education in the plastic manufacturing industry. We have a practical approach in the campus which gives the students a hands-on experience of the manufacturing process," he said.

Water conservation

Students had also built sprinklers and water conserving setup in the college garden. The pipes, sprinklers and the additional water that had to be drained all were designed by the students at the campus.

Vivek Mishra, a second year, DPT student said, "This institute has offered us practical training and given us the luxury of the right technology, machinery along with theory. I came to know about the various uses of plastic and the concept behind designing the shape and then getting the required finished product in the end."

Expo concludes today

The expo, which concludes today at 7 pm is a great opportunity for visitors and passionate youngsters or students to gain an insight into plastic manufacturing industry. The visit could probably kindle your interest and lead you to pave a career in that industry.

The date of submission for JEE online applications is open and the last date for submission is June 30. The date for CIPET JEE is July 7 and the course will commence from Aug. 1, 2019.

National Technology Day at CFTRI

The dignitaries presenting awards and certificates of Excellence in Technology Transfer to various Departments during National Technology Day at CFTRI this morning.

Dwelling at length on societal impact of research that CFTRI has always undertaken, Prasanna said, giving an example of how cooking oil used to fry things in hotels is later sold to roadside food vendors and how the tasty bonda, vadas consumed could lead to health problems.

However, if the same oil is recycled and converted to bio-diesel then it could be used for better purposes, which CFTRI is doing, he lauded.

Earlier, he recalled the time he was residing in Vontikoppal and passing by CFTRI to go to his college in NIE and how stalwarts like earlier Directors Dr. H.A.B. Parpia, Dr. Srinivasan, Dr. Prakash had set standards and how important was this legacy to take the premier food institute forward.

Talking about the importance of technology licences, Prasanna said that there should be good laboratory facilities, qualified academics and technical know-how in any institute to do good work.

Sri Sri Tattva Managing Director Arvind Varchaswi said that to lead a healthy life style what was very important was the right consumption of food in right quantities and also the right time to eat. Ayurveda is one science if people follow this can be achieved.

However, what we instead see today is that 80 to 90 per cent of the diseases are psychosomatic and only yoga, meditation and other best practices help in a calm, composed living. But institutes like CFTRI with its research and technology innovations are addressing the societal problems in its own way, he added.

The theme of the National Technology Day this year is 'Science for people and people for Science.' CFTRI Director Dr. K.S.M.S. Raghavarao, Suresh D. Sakkare, Senior Scientist, CFTRI, H.S. Satish, Head, Food Packaging Department who explained the relevance of National Technology Day and others were present.

Awards and certificates of Excellence in Technology Transfer were presented to various Departments like Floor Milling and Baking, Spices and Flavours, Fruits and Vegetable Technology industry products, Food Packaging Technology, Food Safety and Analytical Technology.

CFTRI Director Dr. Raghavarao and Mohan of Karnataka Health Promotion Trust signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) where the latter will work with the institute with regard to malnutrition.

Du Plessis & Watson half-centuries propel CSK to yet another final

Vaizag, May 11- Experience once again prevailed over youth as Chennai Super Kings outclassed Delhi Capitals by six wickets in the second qualifier in Visakhapatnam on Friday (May 10) to cement their place in the IPL 2019 final. The young Delhi brigade were no match to Chennai who first tied down their opponent's fiery batting unit before openers Faf du Plessis (39-ball 50) and Shane Watson (32-ball 50) made the chase look easy.

The Men in Yellow will now feature in their eighth IPL final where they will face their arch-rivals Mumbai Indians for the fourth title in Hyderabad on Sunday.

Asked to bat, none of the Delhi batsmen could play their natural game as they found it tough to get going against Chennai's disciplined bowling unit. After restricting Delhi to 147 for 9, Watson returned to form when it mattered the most and along with du Plessis got the job done for Chennai. The three-time IPL winners chased down the total with one over to spare, beating Delhi for the third time this season.

Prithvi Shaw might have scored a sparkling fifty in the Eliminator but the right-hander has often struggled against Deepak Chahar. The medium-pacer once again got the better of the 19-year-old as he pinned him right in front of the stumps when he was on 5.

Meanwhile, Shikhar Dhawan (18) started well by slamming Shardul Thakur for three consecutive boundaries before falling to Harbhajan Singh as Delhi were reduced to 41 for 2 at the end of six overs.

Coming in at No. 3, Colin Munro (24-ball 27) started swinging for the ball one and despite getting four boundaries, couldn't get the desired result. Both Harbhajan and Ravindra Jadeja bowled with great control and Munro couldn't cope up with the pressure as he hit one of Jadeja's deliveries straight into the hands of the deep square leg fielder.

Shreyas Iyer (18-ball 13) and Axar Patel (3) fell cheaply to Imran Tahir (1 for 28) and Dwayne Bravo (2 for 19) respectively and the entire burden of getting Delhi to a competitive total fell on the shoulders of Rishabh Pant. With wickets falling at the other end, the wicketkeeper-batsman couldn't play his natural game and that allowed Chennai bowlers to go about their business without much tinkering.

Delhi were 93 for 5 at the end of 15 overs and that's when Sherfane Rutherford lofted Harbhajan for a stunning six over extra cover. The veteran spinner however got his revenge in the same over as he had Rutherford caught for 10 to finish with the figures of 2 for 31.

Pant tried his best and batted according to the situation before finally perishing in the penultimate over, mistiming one to the long-on fielder after scoring 38 off 25 deliveries. However, Trent Boult, Amit Mishra and Ishant Sharma managed to smash a couple of lusty blows in the last two overs to lead Delhi to a decent total.

Delhi bowlers then bowled really well in the first four overs and were able to keep du Plessis and Watson quiet. It was in the fifth over when the South African finally broke the shackles by slamming Axar for a four and a six. With Watson taking time at the other end, du Plessis took it upon himself to score major chunk of the runs and smacked Ishant for three back-to-back fours in the final over of the powerplay to bring some momentum in the innings.

Du Plessis kept the attack going and completed his 12th IPL half-century, studded with seven fours and a six. It was Boult who finally broke the 81-run stand by having du Plessis caught at deep square leg. However, Watson was set by then and commenced to pick things up once he smoked Axar out of the park.

The Australian batsman, who has failed to make any major impact this season barring two knocks, started flexing his muscles and blasted Keemo Paul for 25 runs, including three maximums, to bring up his fifty. He fell in the very next over but by then the job was already done.

Suresh Raina (11) tried to finish the match early and paid for it, but Ambati Rayudu (20*) and MS Dhoni (9) were more professional with their approach and got Chennai closer to the total.

However, Dhoni was caught while trying to finish the match with his customary six but Rayudu only left the field once the job was completed. Fah du Plessis was chosen as the Man of the Match.

Mukesh Kumar triumphs: City's Yashas finishes tied fourth

Panchkula, May 11-Mukesh Kumar's experience prevails on the final day as he clinched the coveted title in the TATA Steel PGTI and claims first win at Panchkula, with a spectacular last round of seven-under-65, to have a aggregate card of 15-under-273.

Local favourite Angad Cheema's final round heroics helped him finish second while Rookie Kshitij Naveed Kaul fires week's best 64 to clinch third place.

Mysuru lad and overnight leader M.S.Yashas Chandra (JWGC), returned with a card of 71 on the final day to finish joint fourth with a card of 11-under-277.

M.S.Yashas

The experience of the seasoned Mukesh Kumar prevailed on the final day of the Rs. 30 lakh TATA Steel PGTI Players Championship presented by Panchkula Golf Club as the 53-year-old from Mhow, Madhya Pradesh, produced a spectacular and error-free last round of seven-under-65 to come through by one shot with a total of 15-under-273.

The old warhorse Mukesh (70-67-71-65), who has over 100 titles to his credit in a 35-year-long career, claimed a record 20th title on the TATA Steel PGTI on Friday and thus ended a two-year winless streak.

The former Asian Tour winner had secured his last victory at the PGTI Cochin Masters in Kochi in April 2017. It was also Mukesh's first triumph at the Panchkula Golf Club. His winning cheque worth Rs.4,84,950 lifted him from 11th to fourth place in the PGTI Order of Merit.

Panchkula's Angad Cheema (67-67-75-65), who was playing at his home course, delivered an equally impressive 65 in round four to finish runner-up at 14-under-274.

Delhi-based teenager Kshitij Naveed Kaul, a recent winner on the PGTI, fired the tournament's best round of 64 on Friday to clinch third place at 12-under-276. Noida's Gaurav Pratap Singh (69), the only other player besides Mukesh Kumar to shoot four sub-par rounds this week, also finished tied fourth. Delhi's Rashid Khan (68) was a further shot back in sixth.

Another Mysuru lad I.L. Aalaap finished 42nd in the final placings with a card of three-over-291.

ITC Chairman passes away

New Delhi, May 11 (UNI)- Yogesh Chander Deveshwar, the longest-serving Chairman of the ITC Group, who transformed cigarette business into one of India's leading FMCG players, died this morning after a brief illness at a private hospital in Gurugram. He was 72. He is survived by his wife and son.

Y.C. Deveshwar

Deveshwar, who stepped down from an executive role in 2017, remained as a Chairman in a non-executive capacity. In 2016, ITC's board had "strongly urged" Deveshwar to continue as CEO, but he wanted the company to have a younger leader, a report said.

One of the longest-serving corporate heads in Indian history with over two decades at the helm at ITC, Deveshwar joined ITC in 1968. He assumed office as Executive Chairman in January, 1996.

When Deveshwar took charge at the helm in the mid-90s, ITC was confronted with formidable challenges with diversification efforts either failing or languishing. The company's revenue was less than Rs. 5,200 crore and Profit Before Tax (PBT) was Rs. 452 crore.

He led the transformation of ITC known mostly as a cigarette maker to a diversified group with presence ranging from FMCG, hospitality, paperboard and packaging, IT and agri business. In 1990s, Deveshwar proved his mettle as a smart businessman, when he staved off British American Tobacco company's takeover attempt.

Under his stewardship, the company also created several world-class Indian brands in the FMCG space. Under him, ITC launched e-Choupal in 2000, an initiative to link directly with rural farmers via the Internet for procurement of agricultural and aquaculture products like soybeans, wheat, coffee, and prawns, according to a report.

The board decided to extend tenure of non-executive Chairman Y.C. Deveshwar by another two years from 2020 to 2022 so that he could continue to mentor the senior management "given the increasing size and complexity of the organisation", said a report.

Sanjiv Puri is the current CEO and MD of the company. Between 1991 and 1994, Deveshwar led Air India as Chairman and Managing Director. He is an alumnus of the Indian Institute of Technology, Delhi, and Harvard Business School.

Conferred the Padma Bhushan, he was also ranked as the 7th Best Performing CEO in the world by the Harvard Business Review. He also served as a Director on the Central Board of the Reserve Bank of India and as a member of the National Foundation for Corporate Governance.

Metagalli and NR Police have arrested Mohammed Idhris, 20 and Mohammad Khashif, 21 of Rajendranagar yesterday while on patrol near Dandimaramma temple on old Bengaluru-Mysuru road and on interrogation learnt that the duo had snatched a 30 gm gold chain worth Rs. 75,000 from a woman during Oct. 2018 on one night and had pledged the gold. The gold chain and a motorcycle were recovered by the Police.

IAP workshop for Obstetricians and Paediatricians tomorrow

Mysuru, May 11- Over 24 million babies are born every year in India. These babies face the highest risk of dying in their first month of life. Presently in India, for every 1,000 babies born, over 25 babies die.

"Saath-Saath-Perinatal Meets" is a one-day workshop planned by Indian Academy of Paediatrics (IAP) and the Federation of Obstetricians and Gynaecologist Societies of India, to train the Obstetricians and Paediatricians in saving newborns with problems at birth and providing quality care for babies born with complicated pregnancies. This programme is conducted by IAP in all parts of country to reduce the new-born death rate.
